

Add Design

1. Right-click on the name of an existing design, and then select Add from the drop-down menu. Lattice displays a dialog box with the name of the design you selected already filled in.

Note: If there are no existing designs, right click on the Design column heading. The resulting dialog box will not have a value populated.

2. Replace the name of the existing design with the name of the new design, and then click Submit. Lattice re-displays the design list, which now includes your new design name (my_test in the example below).

Add Parts to Design

1. Right-click on the new design name, then select Open. Lattice displays the design details display in a new tab.
